RURAL COFFEE COUNTY TO GET AT LEAST FIVE DRY FIRE HYDRANTS

Shortage of funds forecast sends commission scurrying

by Marvin McIlwain
 Elba Clipper Editor

At the present time, it appears that Coffee County will be short by approximately $125,000 when the first installment on the new county jail comes due.

Commissioner Jim Dubose, prior to Monday's commission meeting, had asked the county administrator, Wilson Mobley, to obtain the figures on how much revenue the $35 addition to all court costs would produce within a year's time.

The $35 increase in all court costs was approved by the people of Coffee County in last year's general election. Revenue collected from this source is to be used in funding the new county jail presently under construction in New Brockton.

Mobley's research revealed, that based on the past five months collection history, the projected revenue that will be collected in twelve months from the increased court cost is $115,000.

Coffee County's yearly obligation to retire the bond issue funding the new county jail is $240,000 for the next twenty years.

Based on the information above, Dubose said, "It appears that it's the $35 court cost increase not going to work."

"I would asked that the commission pass a resolution asking our legislative delegation to pass a 1/2¢ sales tax," said Dubose.

"It's certainly not the political thing to do, but I think it's the best thing for Coffee County," he said.

Coffee County's legislative delegation consists of State Representative Jimmy Holley and State Senator E. C. "Crum" Foshee.

Originally, the commission had enacted a 1/2¢ sales tax to fund the new jail, but this was later repealed after the circuit courts ruled that the commission did not have the authority to enact the tax. The legality of the tax was contested in the courts by a group of "concerned citizens".

The lower court's decision is presently on appeal to the Alabama State Supreme Court.

The commissioners rejected Dubose's resolution, but they did agree that they should request a meeting with Representative Holley and Senator Foshee to discuss their dilemma.

Coffee County Engineer Mark Pool also presented a "gloomy" financial picture for the commissioners. He said, "Things are not looking good. If the present trend continues, it appears we'll be short approximately $161,000 of our budgeted income."

Pool stated that the flood damage repair is costing considerably more than FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency) has allowed. He attributed a portion of this additional cost to the increased in the price of gasoline and diesel fuel.

"If things do not turn around," Pool said, "there will be a severe cut-back in the highway department after the flood work is complete."

The commissioners agreed, upon Pool's request, to transfer $40,000 from the debt retirement fund to the heavy equipment repair fund. Repairs costs have already exceeded the estimated amounts.

In addition to all of the above, Pool told the commissioners, "We have 220 miles of paved roads, old farm-to-market roads, that need resurfacing now, but the funds are just not there."

In concluding his report to the commissioners, he told them that the drug testing program for county employees needs to be completed.

"We can spot test new employees, but we can't old employees - this needs to be changed," Pool said.

Byron Herring, president of the Coffee County Firefighters Association, and Bruce Rowland with the Alabama Forestry Commission were present at Monday's commission meeting.

The purpose of their visit was to discuss the installation of five dry hydrants in rural areas of Coffee County.

A dry hydrant is a non-pressurized pipe system permanently installed in an existing lake, pond, stream, or river. These hydrants are for fire protection in rural areas where city or community water systems do not exist.

Bowden told the commission that the State of Alabama and the Appalachian Regional Commission have provided funds to purchase enough pipe and materials to construct at least five dry hydrants in all 67 Alabama counties. The cost of each hydrant is estimated to be approximately $500.

The county was asked to assist in the installation of these "dry hydrants" by providing a back-hoe and operator, one load of gravel, and that the county engineer inspect the installation.

Both Herring and Bowden felt that this measure would provide improved fire protection for life and property in rural Coffee County. Also, reduction in some rural residents' insurance premiums might possibly be realized.

Proposed sites for dry hydrants in Coffee County are: Coffee County Lake to serve the Elba Fire Dept., Lake Hullon which will serve Batten's Cross Roads Fire Dept., Marion Sanders' pond to serve the 5 Star Fire Dept., Jimmy Martin's pond to serve Tri-Community's Fire Dept., and Jerry Day's pond which will be available to the Iro Fire Dept. The installation of the hydrants should be completed by April 1, 1991.

The commissioners agreed to the requests made by Bowden and Herring.

Other matters coming before the commission were:

Accepted the bid of $4,015 from Gulf Atlantic of Tallahassee, Florida, for corrugated drainage pipe.

Heard a request from James Stephens of Elba that the county "do something about the State road in the Department of Human Resources building and the old county jail in Elba. Commissioner Robert Stephens proposed that the old county jail be offered to the Pea River Historical Society. The commission agreed to do so (if the Historical Society does not wish to restore the old jail, it too will be put up for sale).

Upon adjourning the meeting, Commission Chairman Billy Eageron informed the news media that the commissioners would be in a closed session during the afternoon.

He said, "We will not be discussing county business, but giving depictions to attorneys involved in the Ellis lawsuit."

Whitworth Trooper of the Year

by Marvin McIlwain
 Elba Clipper Editor

On Monday night, January 21, 1991, Alabama State Trooper Ronnie W. Whitworth was named "Trooper of the Year" by the Alabama State Troopers' Association. The announcement was made at the Association's meeting in Montgomery, Alabama.

Whitworth had earlier been named "Trooper of the Year" of the State Trooper's Dothan Post #38. He was nominated by his fellow troopers for the honor and along with the nomination, a resume of his accomplishments was presented.

After being honored by his local post, his name was then placed in nomination for the Association's statewide Trooper of the Year Award.

Trooper Ronnie Whitworth

Each Trooper Post throughout the state selects a trooper for this honor and there are 18 posts in the state. The representatives, one from each post, to the ASTA then select three nominees for the award from the 18 post nominees.

Trooper Whitworth was one of the three troopers selected for the statewide honor.

The Association then asked a prominent business leader, minister and lawyer to serve on the "selection board" to choose the "Trooper of the Year."

After reviewing the resumes of all the nominees, the board selected Trooper Whitworth for the honor.

"What makes this award mean so much to me," said Whitworth, "is the fact that the honor is bestowed upon me by my fellow troopers."

"When your peers say you have 'done good' that really means something," he said.

During the award's ceremony in Montgomery, Ronnie was presented with a plaque, a handgun, and an all expense paid trip to the National State Troopers' Coalition meeting to be held later in the year.

An auction of unused city equipment will be held on Saturday, March 9th, according to an announcement by Mayor Fred Moore. He said the auction will be open to the public, both as bidders and to sell any excess equipment. He explained that anyone will be able to consign items for sale.

Moore reported that the police department has tagged 52 abandoned vehicles as part of the clean-up project approved in December. Of those 52, about a dozen have already been removed by the owners.

One killed in a Tuesday wreck

An automobile accident at the intersection of Highways 167 and 87, between Elba and Troy, Tuesday afternoon claimed the life of one man.

Unconfirmed reports at press time indicate a passenger car with a lone occupant struck a tractor trailer rig hauling heavy equipment that was stopped at the intersection.

The driver of the car was reportedly killed instantly. There were no reported injuries of the occupants of the tractor trailer rig.

Officials had not released a name of the victim at press time.

Witnesses were unable to explain why the car apparently failed to slow down any prior to striking the truck.

Fort Rucker recognizes Flat Iron

The Air Ambulance Division (Flat Iron) of the Army Aeromedical Center at Fort Rucker recently received recognition for achievement in aviation safety.

The division received a Certificate of Achievement and Safety Award for accumulating 16,493 consecutive accident-free flying hours between October 1984 through October 1990.

The mission of these soldiers flying the white UH-1V Huey helicopter with the red cross, is to provide the Aviation Center and Fort Rucker with air crash rescue services.

"To accomplish this mission," said 1st Lt. Chuck Tanner, the division's safety officer, "the division utilizes a specialized team of 16 aviators."

The super bowl is over and by all accounts it was a thriller. We normally watch the game, but this year we couldn't get our eyes off the news programs long enough to get interested in football. The massive coverage of the war in the Middle East has gotten us paying attention to little else. Then we think back for the past two hours and realize that at all that talking they have told us nothing new at all. We want to get mad, but we know that all we had to do was turn the on-off button and stop wasting our time. But... meet me in front of the tube tonight (for supper)!

The Russians were trying to convince us they were now nice guys. They even paid lip service to supporting the actions against Iraq. Now they are back to their usual stuff of suppressing (with guns) anyone or any idea that doesn't follow the official party line. While we are on the Russians, will someone tell us exactly how much money and how many troops they have committed to the war effort. Of course they may do as they did against Japan in WWII. Two days before the surrender, they declared war against Japan and started an invasion of China. They were moving so fast, they just couldn't stop when the Japanese called it quits... the Russians just kept invading until they controlled all of China.

We are a bit disturbed at some self-proclaimed civil rights activists who are complaining that the ratio of blacks in the Middle East is higher than in the U. S. population. When the same was said about Vietnam, we didn't know how to respond, but now we know that every person in the U. S. military is there on his or her own accord. While we acknowledge that those complaining are only a vocal few, it could grow louder and with terrible results. The only solution would be for the military to set a quota on enlistments and re-enlistments, allowing a limited percentage of blacks to join. If that had been suggested twelve months ago, the roof would have exploded off every legislative building in America, and just so. It seems the U. S. Army is the one with the heaviest black enlistment (about 30%) and those are the troops who would (will) take the most casualties in a ground war, but they did join. Least you forget, these opinions are not from an ivory tower... we have a son in the regular Army also and it was his idea. While he isn't in the Middle East at this writing, he is in Europe and has been on alert for deployment since the troubles began.

The Coffee County Home Farm & Garden Show is slated for this weekend, Saturday and Sunday at the Farm Center in New Brock. There will be entertainment, exhibits, a bit of food and cash prizes! See you there.

We got real mad with CNN Monday evening. We had gone home for supper, flipped on the tube and heard that Hussein right there in Baghdad. It made us so mad that he is using the American media to do his dirty work, we thought we should do something. We turned off that station and thus far haven't turned back to it.

ators, 10 flight medical airmen and 11 crash/rescue specialist (firefighters). Working on a 24-hour per day basis, we respond at a moment's notice to effect the safe and timely rescue of those involved in aviation mishaps.

During Fiscal Year 1990, about 110 patients were transported, with the team flying 1,053 hours.

Tanner said that another of the division's missions is aeromedical (Medevac) in support of the Air Force.

The MAST program is the joint endeavor of Fort Rucker and its civilian neighbors for quick response and transportation for injured victims of medical emergencies, whatever the cause.

That includes natural disasters like the March 17 flood at Elba, Alabama. After receiving calls for assistance from the local law enforcement agencies and rescue squads, the division immediately launched one aircraft, 2222 for normal proficiency training; and 123 hours in maintenance test flights.

Division personnel transported a total of 319 patients during the year. In addition to the award for safety, the unit has also been nominated for the Army Aviation Association of America's "Outstanding Aviation Unit of the Year."

During FY90, Air Ambulance Division logged a total of 3,088 flight hours for their mission. Of that total, 1,053 hours were crash rescue missions, 392.5 hours were Medevac missions, 215 hours for MAST missions; 1,222 for normal proficiency training; and 123 hours in maintenance test flights.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

My thanks to Zion Chapel Elementary School for picking up the system pellets inadvertently spilled on our property and on the right-of-way on Hwy. 87N.

It's not nice to "drop it on Alabama" but, if anyone mistakenly does, it shows civic pride and environmental responsibility to correct the error by picking it up. In this case, the pellets were not from people who care for the environment. Please use common sense and discretion in reporting war opposition.

But, for now, the overwhelming majority of Americans here in support of our country's efforts against tyranny. It would be a disservice to the Americans in harms' way to aid and comfort the enemy by suggesting the contrary.

Very truly yours,

I appreciate the value of the First Amendment and, certainly, America would not be America without it. However, in some circumstances, especially during a national emergency, it may prove more prudent to weigh the possible losses against the benefits of free expression.

The effect of this exposure is, I feel, inflammatory. The current effects in the Middle East are not well served by the actions of those who are clearly in the minority at this particular juncture of the war effort.

I submit that the media will know

Science Projects Important

by Jennifer Flowers
A dreaded plague has once again struck many students at Zion Chapel. It's time for their annual science projects! Mrs. Jackie Jinnright and Mrs. Anita Grant recently informed their students about the science projects. All students are required to do a project. The projects will count 25% of the students' 9 weeks grade. Many students ask their teachers exactly what the purpose is in doing a science project? Mrs. Jinnright replied that the purposes are to give the students an opportunity to integrate several disciplines into one activity, to allow the students the opportunity to explore

Mrs. Jackie Jinnright and Mrs. Anita Grant are in charge of Zion Chapel's Science Departments.

Problem of the Week

by Pam Coleman
There is something new going on in the math classes at Zion Chapel. All of Mrs. Herbert's math classes will have a chance to earn extra credit at the end of the nine weeks.
Students can earn extra credit by solving the "Problem of the Week". Each student that wants to earn extra credit can do so by working individually on the problem and turning it in. If the answer is correct the student will receive extra credit.
The "Problem" will be displayed on the bulletin board in Mrs. Herbert's room each week. The problems will last until the end of the nine weeks.
All of you math wizards get to work and earn extra credit!

Proration Is Unpopular Subject

by Donna Holcomb
The subject of proration is not very popular throughout the schools in Alabama at this time. Proration is caused by the lack of funds coming into the state that are meant for education. This shortage is mainly from corporate income tax. These funds for our education are being cut by 3-72 percent.
In order to be more efficient with the money left for the Coffee County schools, Mr. Clayton Bryant, superintendent, has made several suggestions. The number of field trips taken by bus will be reduced, heating and lighting will only be used when necessary, and only enough buses and school vehicles will be used to get essential jobs done. Other measures taken to save money are making sure lights and heating are off at night and on weekends and limiting long distance phone calls.
Although teachers' salaries, which make up 80 percent of the school's budget, can't be prorationed, the teachers are still affected a great deal by these cuts in something they can perform well, and to teach the scientific method.
The students will be graded on their creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity, and dramatic value.
The science projects are due on February 11. The school science fair will be held on February 21. Regional competition will be at Troy State on March 2.

Z. C. Students React To The U.S.- Iraq War

by Stephanie Adkinson
The senior class at Zion Chapel High School recently took part in a "reaction to the war" survey. They were asked several questions about the war. One question was "What was your first reaction when you found out that the U.S. had attacked Iraq?" The students' answers were varied. Some said they were shocked, some said they were angry, and some said they were sad.

Computer Literacy

by Carmen Rodgers
Writing computer programs has been the first learning activity for the new semester in Computer Literacy.
In order to communicate with or give commands to the computer a language called BASIC is used. For instance typing in the word LIST tells the computer to bring up the list of the programs currently listed in the main memory. The word RUN tells the computer to execute the program that has been selected from the memory. The word NEW tells the computer that a new program is to be started. The word PRINT is used to skip lines and to display values of arithmetic expressions. A semicolon causes the information to be printed in columns and it also causes the next PRINT instruction to continue on the same line without skipping a space when adding to the end of a PRINT instruction. The word TAB moves the cursor to the right of its last position. When TAB is added to the PRINT instruction, it spaces over toward the right ten spaces and prints vertically. A comma tells the computer to skip over to the next instruction before printing the contents to the right of the comma. The last comma in the class learned is END, it indicates the end of the program.

Partners In Excellence Reading Program

by Wendy Chancellor
Zion Chapel teachers who were involved in the Partners in Excellence Reading Program now have in their classrooms the World Book products earned by their classes.

Mrs. Rachel Bryan got a set of World Book Encyclopedia, two World Book Atlases, and a two-volume world book Dictionary. Mrs. Jackie Jinnright and Mrs. Anita Grant pooled the money earned by their classes to purchase World Book products. They each got a set of set of World Book Encyclopedia of Science and will share a set of World Book Encyclopedia.

The World Book Encyclopedia of Science is an eight-volume reference set that explains many of the most important aspects of science. Volume 1 is titled "The Universe". It presents the history of astronomy, an explanation of the universe, and a complete study of the solar system. The other seven volumes are titled "Physics Today", "Chemistry Today", "The Planet Earth", "The Human Body", and "Men and Women of Science". Each of these volumes contains a depth presentation of its subject matter.

The World Book Atlas is a 432-page learning resource designed to help students better understand geography. It contains 128 pages of World reference maps along with other geographical information. The two-volume World Book Dictionary contains 225,000 entries and is thumb-indexed.

Each student who took part in this program will be presented a certificate of achievement and many of them will be presented gold or silver medals.

Wendy Chancellor and Cindy Taylor are enjoying the new Encyclopedia in Mrs. Rachel Bryan's room.

P.E. Classes Lift Weights

by Jason McLeod
Zion Chapel's fourth and seventh period P.E. classes have been working hard for a few weeks. Coach Clint McCarty put his fourth period class to a test. The class lifted weights for three weeks and have been timed on the mile run and the shuttle run for the past two weeks. The mile run consisted of five laps around the football field. The shuttle run is a ten-yard relay four times.

The seventh period class has been working hard on lifting weights and doing sit-ups. The class has also been running before weight lifting around the school campus. This class is mostly football players getting ready for next season.

7th Grade Studies Ag and Home Ec

by Angela Culver
During the year the seventh grade takes one semester of Home Economics and one semester of Agri-Business. The seventh grade is split at the beginning of the year and at the end of the first semester the two halves exchange places.
For two and a half weeks of Agri-Business these students study cows and hogs. Cows and hogs are not a completely new aspect for rural school children but for the first time they are introduced to breeds, color of each breed, origins, and characteristics. Worksheets and slides are used for this study.
These seventh graders will be able to identify several breeds of cattle including Angus, Hereford, Charolais, Chianina, and Shorthorn. The hog breeds include American Landrace, Chester White, Duroc, Hampshire, Tamworth, Yorkshire, and Pol and China.

The makers of Oxy 10 are sponsoring a contest for students in grades 9-12, with a $15,000 scholarship being the grand prize. Also, 25 other prizes will be offered. To enter, you must choose ten people, living or dead, famous or unknown, whom you think have made the world a better place. The criteria the judges will consider are quality of content, creativity and originality, and quality of presentation. Entry forms will be accepted beginning January 14 and must be received by April 1. For more information, see Mr. Canley.

The Wal-Mart Foundation is offering educational grants in the form of scholarships to high school seniors planning to go to college. Each Wal-Mart store will award $1,000 scholarship to a qualifying student. The Store Manager will ask all high schools in the store's advertising area to participate in the program. The school will be asked to submit two students for the first 100 graduating seniors and one additional applicant for each 100 seniors, with high academic and scholastic achievements, active extracurricular involvement, and a financial need in the surrounding schools for the scholarship. For more information, see Mr. Canley.

THE PRESSBOX

By Ricky Mularz

It's almost "Birthday Time" at the Mularz household, as Melanie will turn two years old on Monday, and of course that means presents, a cake and fun for all. We really don't know what we'll get her, but for a two-year-old many times they enjoy the wrapping paper and the boxes more the gifts, anyway!

ELBA TIGERS WRAP UP AREA 2 CHAMPIONSHIP

The Elba Tigers claimed important Area 2 wins over Slocomb and Luverne last week and in doing so wrapped up the Area championship with a 7-1 record, and also won the right to host next month's Area tournament at the Enterprise State Junior College gym.

The win over Slocomb was a key game as a loss would have set up a possible three-way tie between the Tigers, Louisville and Slocomb; however, the Tigers, as in football, clinched the Area title with a win over Slocomb, in Slocomb.

The high-scoring win over Slocomb was a real shootout as both teams played well enough to win. Elba had a run late in the first quarter and again in the second quarter to grab the lead, while Slocomb had a number of fumbles throughout the game to keep the Tigers within reach and were indeed in the game until the closing minutes. The Elba defense was a key in the win, in spite of the 84 points scored by the Red Tops, as the Tigers forced countless turnovers and converted many of the steals into instant points that gave the Tigers the lead, and kept the Tigers in front.

In the win over Luverne the Tigers had their worst night of the season shooting the ball (24 of 71), but still had way too much for Luverne and posted a lopsided win. I've always heard that offense can come and go, but defense sticks with you when the going gets tough, and that was certainly the case Friday night. Elba's ball-hawking defense forced Luverne into numerous turnovers throughout the game and was the reason the Tigers were able to blow the game open in the second half. Yep, it was a good week for the defense, and another good week for the Tigers!

COUNTY TEAMS ENJOY GOOD WEEK ON COURT

The county teams had struggled throughout the season, but last week tightened their sneakers a little tighter and posted a number of big wins. Here's a look back...

NEW BROCKTON (9-5) has apparently completely recovered from the loss of three starters as the Gamecocks whipped Kinston and Red Level to clinch the Area title. New Brockton may not be as talented as in years past, but it has a true "team" and could be a surprise as the season nears an end.

ZION CHAPEL (4-9) had been given up or dead, but arose and spoiled Pleasant Home and Dozier to remain very much alive in the Area hunt. The Rebels have more than enough talent to win in their league, but have just been missing something. Maybe last week they found out what was wrong!

KINSTON (6-9) dropped a cross-county clash to New Brockton, but bounced back to upset Samson and in doing so knocked Samson out of the Area title hunt. The Bulldogs play as hard as any team to be expected, they just have to play as well as they can, and then some. Don't think they can't!

JUNIOR TIGERS BRING HOME COUNTY CROWN

The Elba Junior High Tigers had nothing to gain and everything to lose when last week's County Junior High Tourney started at ESJC. The Tigers carried a perfect 12-0 record into the tournament and had soundly defeated the other teams in the event, which meant the Tigers weren't just expected to win the tourney, but expected to win it easily. Well, they did just that as Coach Frank Phillips crew blew away two opponents.

Elba rips Slocomb to claim Area 2 crown

The Elba Tigers clinched the Class 2A Area 2 basketball championship Tuesday night by defeating the Slocomb Red Tops 89-83, at Slocomb.

The win upped the Tigers' record to 11-4, 6-1 in Area play, while Slocomb saw its record fall to 12-7, 4-2 in Area action.

Elba came out ready to play and jumped ahead 5-2 on a basket by Dee Miller with 5:24 left in the opening stanza, only to see Slocomb pull even on a three-point shot and then go on a 7-2 run that gave the Red Tops a 12-7 lead with 4:01 left in the quarter.

Elba came out ready to play and jumped ahead 5-2 on a basket by Dee Miller with 5:24 left in the opening stanza, only to see Slocomb pull even on a three-point shot and then go on a 7-2 run that gave the Red Tops a 12-7 lead with 4:01 left in the quarter.

The Slocomb surge seemed to get the Tigers' attention; however, as Elba, paced by the shooting of Bennie Daniels, went on an 11-0 tear that put the Tigers on top 18-12 with 1:49 left on the clock!

Slocomb cut the lead to 18-17 with .54 still left in the quarter, but the Tigers again answered by scoring the final six points of the quarter to grab a 24-17 advantage.

A three-point shot by Bennie Daniels pushed Elba's lead to 29-21 early in the second quarter and it looked like the Tigers would take command of the game; however, Slocomb refused to quit and chopped the lead to 36-34 with 2:15 left in the half and then caught the Tigers at 38-38 with 1:37 left on the clock.

With its lead now extinguished, the Tigers turned up the defensive pressure and took advantage of three late layups to score 9 straight points and went in at the half with a 43-38 bulge!

A layup by Ronald McKinnon with 5:20 left in the third quarter gave the Tigers a 53-42 lead and when McKinnon hit a short jumper with 3:44 left, the Tigers were back in charge with a 59-45 advantage.

Slocomb rallied to cut the lead to 50-52 with 2:32 left in the quarter, but the Tigers again answered by scoring the final six points of the quarter to grab a 56-52 lead.

Elba was sluggish in the early go-go with 5:40 left in the fourth quarter on a layup by Ronald McKinnon and the Tigers' lead stood at 69-77 with 1:11 left in the game, before Slocomb scored late to make the final 89-83.

Bennie Daniels scored 26 points

A layup by Ronald McKinnon with 5:20 left in the third quarter gave the Tigers a 53-42 lead and when McKinnon hit a short jumper with 3:44 left, the Tigers were back in charge with a 59-45 advantage.

Slocomb rallied to cut the lead to 50-52 with 2:32 left in the quarter, but the Tigers again answered by scoring the final six points of the quarter to grab a 56-52 lead.

Elba was sluggish in the early go-go with 5:40 left in the fourth quarter on a layup by Ronald McKinnon and the Tigers' lead stood at 69-77 with 1:11 left in the game, before Slocomb scored late to make the final 89-83.

Bennie Daniels scored 26 points to lead Elba, while Ronald McKinnon added 21. Alex Magwood 18 and Dee Miller 15. Tim McMiller scored 31 points to lead Slocomb while William Huff added 17, J.J. Price 11 and Donnell Pagnon.

(B Game)

The Elba B team rallied in the final quarter to outscore Slocomb 74-70.

The Tigers pulled ahead early in the wide-open affair, but trailed 55-54 going into the final stanza to lead Elba, while Dee Miller added 18 and Dion Belcher scored 16.

Elba (74): Tyson 20, R. Thigpen 2, Belcher 16, G. Thigpen 8, Donaldson 18, McMiller 11.

Slocomb (70): F. Craig 11, C. Craig 12, Price 10, Davis 17, Ward 4, Huff 16.

With its lead now extinguished, the Tigers turned up the defensive pressure and took advantage of three late layups to score 9 straight points and went in at the half with a 43-38 bulge!

Peanut Producers to be the Host of 33rd Annual Meeting

The Alabama Peanut Producers Association will host its 33rd Annual Meeting on February 8, 1991 between 9:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Houston County Farm Center in Dothan, with a Bar-B-Que lunch included.

The program consists of the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries in the 90's. Tom Smith, Field Underwriting Federal Crop Insurance, will speak about crop insurance, the changes and its future. Roger Knapp, Director of Commodity Purchasing with Best Foods/CPC International, will give a manufacturer's view on the peanut market in the 90's.

Paul Blankenship, Agricultural Engineer, USDA Peanut Lab will discuss the proposed chemical testing for improved quality; and the benefits for every segment of the industry. Dallas Hartzog, Peanut Specialist Auburn Agricultural Experiment Station will give a peanut research update. Mitch Head, Executive Director of the Peanut Advisory Board, will discuss peanut promotions.

Immediately following the speakers agenda, there will be a drawing for door prizes, which include a Browning shotgun and seed.

Concluding the meeting, there will be business meetings of the Alabama Peanut Producers Association and the PeanutPAC of Alabama.

KIMBO NICKOLSON, age 15, is shown proudly displaying an eight point buck he killed on a recent weekend deer hunt. He shot the deer while hunting with Hurricane Creek Conservancy Club. It was the first buck the young man has killed. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Nickolson.

4-H Youths Hear Talks by Inmates

by Danielle Richards
On January 17, 1991, Zion Chapel 4-H met. First, Zion Hughes announced the winners of our Birdhouse Contest, 1st place was Michelle Sawyer, and 2nd place was Jennifer Glorud. Our program was called "Free By Choice". Officer Niles came and brought two people from jail. A woman came, her name was Janice, and a man came, his name was Wendell. Janice was put in jail in 1989 and was sentenced for 5 years for possession of drugs. Wendell was sentenced for 2-10 years for selling drugs. They encouraged us not to make the wrong choices in our life. After they told us their stories, we asked them questions. Then we dismissed.

An Honor, Indeed.

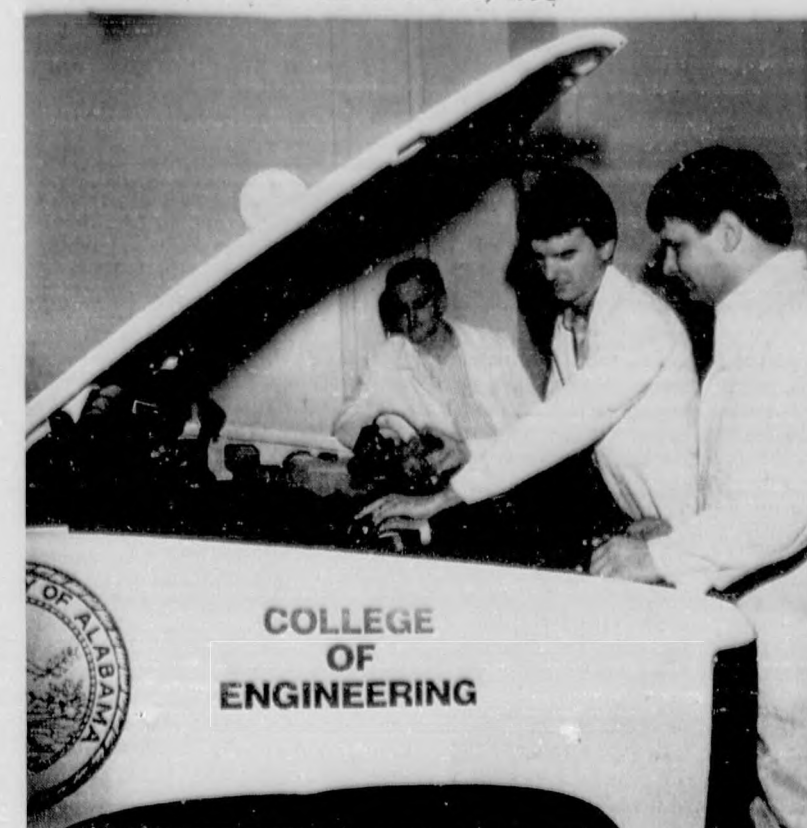

Liberty National prides itself in having some of the best agents in the insurance field. And when an agent stands out among the best—it truly is an honor.

We salute our Honor Agent for his outstanding performance during this quarter. And if you see him on the street—we hope you'll congratulate him, too. He deserves it.

University Of Alabama To Enter Engine In Vehicle Contest

As Middle East disruption and tougher air quality laws point toward alternatives to petroleum fuels, University of Alabama students unveiled their attempt to bring the natural gas step closer to natural gas as a motor fuel.

Students presented a GMC pickup truck they are adapting to run on natural gas to compete in the National Gas Vehicle Challenge, a national contest being sponsored by General Motors June 7-12 in Detroit.

The contest will test the engineering skills of 24 universities in the United States and Canada and will compare the converted trucks for emissions, fuel economy, reliability, coldstart and ease of driving, cargo carrying, acceleration and pulling power. GM will integrate new ideas generated from the contest into its developments of alternative fuel vehicles.

The winning teams will receive trophies, $10,000 in cash, and grants for improving engineering education at their schools.

"As the world's attention is turned to a crisis in the Middle East that threatens petroleum supplies, it is a good time to be looking at clean, more plentiful sources of fuel," said UA President Roger Sayers.

It is particularly appropriate that the University of Alabama be involved in the Natural Gas Vehicle Challenge because Tuscaloosa County is in the midst of a methane boom, where rich reserves are literally under our feet.

UA students made the first cut in the competition by submitting a winning proposal to receive one of the 24 pickup trucks GM is donating to competing universities.

UA's white 34 ton GMC Sierra pickup has been dubbed "MERV-2" for Methane Energy Research Vehicle-2. The first MERV was a university research boat earlier converted to methane.

Faculty advisors for the project are Dr. Stuart Bell, associate professor of mechanical engineering in the College of Engineering and an expert in alternative fuels, and Dr. Joey Parker, assistant professor of mechanical engineering.

It appears now that natural gas offers an economic advantage over gasoline, as well as an environmental advantage through lower emissions," Bell said.

The goal of the contest is not

Employee Asked To Issue W-2 Wage Statements As Soon As Possible

Employees are being reminded by Philip J. Sullivan, District Director of Internal Revenue Service in Alabama, to try to provide Form W-2, "Wage and Tax Statement" to their employees to file their tax returns in January and quickly receive any federal tax refund due.

In any case, employers should furnish Form W-2s to their employees no later than January 31.

Also, if an employee quits his or her job and asks for Form W-2, the employer should have the employee sign a Form W-2 with 30 days of the employee's departure or the final wage payment, whichever is later.

Employers should generally keep copies of Form W-2 for at least four years.

Tips On Winter Lawn Care

Dan Presley - County Agent Coordinator

Winter Lawn Care
 Now is the time to be working on your lawn so that it will be ready for the spring green-up. There are several things that I would suggest you look into doing now.

(1) Control winter weeds. Personally, I like to mow to keep my winter weeds under control. If you had rather spray, there are several herbicides that will control these weeds, but they need to be sprayed before they start blooming.

(2) You need to remove the dead part of your grass. This may be some thatch that needs to be removed or the grass that has been killed by the winter removed. I like to mow mine about once a month in the winter time, each time lowering my mower a notch and catching the grass that I mow off. This way I do not have such a large amount of grass to remove at one time. The catcher on my lawn mower can usually handle one notch at a time. If I wait until my grass is ready to green-up, this overloads the pick-up system of my mower.

(3) I would not fertilize my lawn until at least the middle of March, particularly on Centipede grass. If you cause them to green up too soon and we have a late frost, it will do tremendous damage to your Centipede lawn. Don't try to put all of fertilizer out at one time. Several small applications are much better than one large application.

You still have to get a soil test report back before you need to fertilize. This is the only way you will know exactly what type of fertilizer you will need.

Can Individual Homeowners Make A Difference?
 Everyone who uses pesticides can make a difference, and homeowners and gardeners use a considerable amount of pesticides. The following approaches may be used to reduce the incidence of water pollution from pesticide chemicals around the home: (1) reduce the amount of pesticides you use, (2) handle and use all containers as well as unused or unwanted chemicals.

Alternatives to Pesticide Use
 There are numerous methods for controlling pests, many of which do not involve the use of pesticides. Overuse of insecticide may actually create a problem by killing beneficial insects in some cases. Select lawn, garden and ornamental plants that are well adapted to your location and varieties that have disease and insect resistance or tolerance and no history of pest related problems. I will be glad to help you in selecting plants that require minimal pest management.

Practices such as mulching, hand weeding, and other cultural methods are still very effective, and may be used entirely in some cases to control pests or integrated with pesticide usage to reduce the overall amount of pesticide needed. This process is called integrated pest management or IPM. Integrated pest management strategies have been used in field crops for a number of years and are discussed in detail in many Extension publications. These same or similar strategies should work around the home to reduce pesticide use.

Bo Boyd was selected by the Alabama Cattlemen's Association to win the Alabama Junior Cattlemen's Association Prospect Award. This award was presented to the youth from throughout the state who displays active involvement in many extra-curricular activities including 4-H projects, livestock projects, member of various clubs and organizations, judging team participant and other activities not related to livestock.

County Agent

Letter of Letters
 As family members are being deployed to the Middle East, families and couples must depend, primarily, on the mail to carry their thoughts and concerns to each other.

Letter provide an important way to keep communication open. Before separation is in place, decide how often you will write. This will help avoid disappointment and define expectations. Provide the departing person with writing materials so that they will be immediately available. Number each letter so that if several arrive at the same time the person receiving them will know the order in which they were written.

Include notes from the children, if they are old enough to write, or if they can't write, have them draw a picture. School papers or report cards can keep an absent parent in touch with that aspect of their child's life.

Share as many of your thoughts and feelings as you can in your letters. Think through your problems and negative feelings before you put them on paper. While it isn't possible or realistic to be cheerful all the time, you may want to wait to tell your husband or wife about a problem until you've had time to find a solution. Remember that your letter may not be read for weeks, and by the time it is read by your spouse the situation may be greatly improved, but he or she will have no way of knowing that and it may cause undue worry.

Returning Soldiers
 What kind of family adjustments can be expected when soldiers come home? When they do return to their families, it's normal for families to have some adjustments to make. Strains are especially likely between fathers and children.

However, having such strains will be a sign that you've successfully adapted to being apart. Trusting one's spouse and focusing on building relationships with family and support people in the community (friends, neighbors, support groups) are helpful coping strategies.

Putting the controls on Diabetes
 Diabetes is the third leading cause of death in the United States, and the number one cause of blindness in people over 50. Controlling the disease is critical to lessening the risks. Regardless of type, many diabetes have lived with the disease for decades without complications. By keeping one's weight within desired bounds, taking medication as prescribed, and following doctor's orders regarding diet and exercise, the adverse effects can be reduced.

Carl Sanders (left) of New Hope and Dykes Adkinson (right) of Sanson are Coffee County's directors to the Alabama Peanut Producers Association.

Adkinson & Sanders Are New Directors Of Al. Peanut Producers Association
 Richard Petcher - Assistant County Agent

Alabama Peanut Producers Association
 Carl Sanders of New Hope and Dykes Adkinson of Sanson are Coffee County's directors to the Alabama Peanut Producers Association. Carl has been a director for five years and Dykes was elected as director of last year's annual meeting of APPA in Dothan. The number of directors from each county is determined by the number of tons produced and paid on in each county. Dykes Adkinson is also the GFA director for district #9. He has also been a district representative of the GFA to the APPA for the last seven years.

The Alabama Peanut Producers Association is a non-profit growers organization. All of the activities of the APPA are directed and funded by the peanut grower. The APPA has had its beginning here in the Wiregrass in 1957. The purpose of the association comes under three main headings: promotion, research and education. Over the years the goal of the association is to accomplish these objectives through sound ongoing programs in each of these areas.

Peanut growers who participate in the check-off program are automatically members of the Alabama Peanut Producers Association. The grower's contribution is $2.50 per ton. These funds are collected by the Alabama Department of Agriculture at the peanut buying points. The association is operated by a board of directors comprised of seventeen peanut producers. These directors are elected by grower delegates from each of the major peanut-producing counties.

The promotion of peanuts in the interest of the peanut farmer and the peanut industry is the primary function of the Alabama Peanut Producers Association. These promotional activities extend from the State to National and on to International levels. Many of these projects, of course, are cooperative efforts with industry and other organizations. The APPA promotional projects are geared toward raising the image and use of peanuts and peanut products. Educational programs are also a part of a major thrust from APPA. Keeping those who affect our industry informed is a complete job in itself. State and national legislators, levying institutions, USDA officials and the public must understand the peanut growers' position. The peanut growers also need to be informed as to what the APPA is doing on their behalf. National Peanut Growers Group is a federation of state and national peanut organizations formed to monitor legislation and regulations affecting the peanut industry.

RESEARCH - The APPA has been supporting Auburn University Agricultural Experiment since 1971. Areas of significant accomplishments include research on peanut leaf spot, white mold, nematodes, fertilization and liming, aflatoxin, seed quality and harvest dates. There are about 25 on-farm demonstrations conducted each year with peanuts.

Exciting New Sequel To THE BIG SLEEP

PERCHANCE TO DREAM

Robert Parker, author of the Spenser detective novels and foremost interpreter of the Chandler tradition, embarks once again into Chandler territory with an all new sequel to the 1939 classic The Big Sleep. Follow private eye Philip Marlowe through the sun-drenched streets of Los Angeles into labyrinths of crime, duplicity, and murder in Parker's exciting new novel, Perchance to Dream -- a novel of high suspense, action, and pure entertainment.

SAVE THE WORLD

25 Ways You Can Help Save the Earth

1. Buy white toilet paper, tissues and paper towels. Dyed paper pollutes.
2. Take showers instead of baths to save water and energy.
3. Keep your tires inflated to the proper pressure to improve fuel economy.
4. Instead of ironing, hand your clothes in the bathroom while you shower.
5. Turn off lights in rooms you aren't using.
6. Use cold water rather than hot water whenever possible for kitchen tasks and laundry.
7. Buy products packaged in recycled paper or cardboard.
8. Insulate your water heater and turn it down to 121 degrees F.
9. Close off unused areas of your home. Shut off or block heat vents.
10. Clean lamps and lighting fixtures regularly.
11. Remove unnecessary items from your car. Each 100 pounds of weight decreases fuel efficiency by one percent.
12. Tune up your car regularly for maximum gas mileage.
13. Use small electric pans and ovens to reduce energy use.
14. Run your dishwasher only when full, and use the energy-saver cycle.
15. For a toilet bowl cleaner, use baking soda and a brush.
16. As a disinfectant, use half a cup of borax in a gallon of water.
17. Use pump sprays instead of aerosols.
18. Take your own coffee cup to work instead of using a disposable container.
19. Buy in bulk to avoid packaging.
20. Keep the lint screen in your clothes dryer clean.
21. Use cloth diapers instead of plastic disposable ones.
22. Give leftover paint to theatre groups, schools or church groups.
23. Pour a kettle of boiling water down the drain weekly to melt fat that may be building up.
24. Install storm doors to save heat.
25. Educate your children about the environment.
